Protecting Wildlife
Keeping You Safe

MEMBERSHIP PROGRAM

The Delaware Council of Wildlife Rehabilitators and Educators is a diverse group of individuals of all age groups and experience levels who come together to help the wildlife of Delaware. We share our experience with one another and promote wildlife awareness within the state. DCWRE is an incorporated 501(c)(3) non-profit organization registered in the state of Delaware. It was established in 1995 to care for sick, injured and abandoned wildlife with the hope of returning them to the wild.

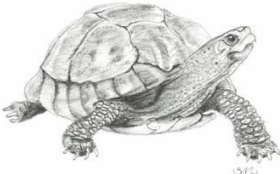

Our goals:

To educate the public about wildlife habits, habitats, and values.

To promote respect for wildlife species throughout the State of Delaware.

To rehabilitate orphaned or injured wildlife by providing the necessary care required to release them back into their natural habitats.

To provide continuing education and training opportunities to our members. This ensures that the animals being rehabilitated are receiving the best quality care possible.

MEMBERSHIP YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Membership into the DCWRE is a great way to help provide services for native wildlife in Delaware.

Becoming an active rehabilitator is a good way to help. Members of the DCWRE receive approximately 2,500 calls from the public annually for an animal they've encountered. From this, members receive approximately 1,500 animals needing care. Squirrels, turtles, opossums, raccoons, rabbits, snakes, foxes, mice, moles, voles, bats, chipmunks, flying squirrels, muskrats, otters, weasel, beaver, whitetail deer, salamanders, frogs, toads and birds make up the animals that rehabilitators receive.

Help us connect people with wildlife. Assisting with phone calls, obtaining supplies, transporting animals, building cages and facilitating educational programs are all great ways to help.
